

---

Contents

---

Acknowledgements and further reading	vii
Preface	ix
1 Rights: the historical and legal background	1
2 The publishing contract: who should control the rights?	39
3 An expanding range of possibilities	51
4 The rationale behind rights sales	58
5 Selling rights: who and how?	64
6 Tackling the task: essentials	68
7 Rights selling: a range of methods	84
8 Book fairs and sales trips: preparation, survival and follow-up	92
9 English-language territorial rights	116
10 Book club rights	143
11 Paperback rights	156
12 Low-price reprint rights	165
13 Other reprint rights	177
14 Serial rights and one-shot periodical rights	186

vi Contents

---

15	Digest and condensation rights	198
16	Translation rights	201
17	Anthology and quotation rights	242
18	Rights for the reading impaired	253
19	Single-voice readings	260
20	Audio recording and video recording rights	263
21	Dramatization and documentary rights: stage, radio, television and film rights	271
22	Merchandising rights	296
23	Reprographic and electronic reproduction rights	306
24	Electronic publishing and multimedia rights	364
25	Supply of duplicate production material to licensees	399
	Useful names and addresses	406
	Index	408

สำหรับเพื่อการศึกษาอ้างอิงเท่านั้น
For educational use and reference only