

CONTENTS

PART ONE: THE SUSTAINABLE CITY

1 A TIME FOR CHANGE	25
THE URBAN LEGACY	26
THE DRIVERS OF CHANGE	27
The information age	27
The ecological imperative	28
Changing lifestyles	28
UNDERSTANDING THE ENGLISH CONTEXT	29
The economic context	32
The social context	34
The environmental context	36
CREATING THE CONDITIONS FOR CHANGE	38
Achieving design excellence	39
Creating economic strength	42
Taking environmental responsibility	42
Investing in urban government	43
Prioritising social well-being	45
IN SUMMARY	46
2 DESIGNING THE URBAN ENVIRONMENT	49
REGAINING OUR URBAN TRADITION	50
A process of fragmentation	50
Architecture and urban design	50
THE COMPACT AND WELL-CONNECTED CITY	54
THE PUBLIC REALM: A PUBLIC RESPONSIBILITY	56
Creating a network of public spaces	56
Achieving urban integration	57
Towards a public realm strategy	59
DENSITY AND INTENSIFICATION	59
Defining density	59
Density and design	60
Creating pyramids of intensity	64

GETTING THE RIGHT MIX	64
Mixing uses	64
Mixing households	65
RAISING THE QUALITY OF NEW HOUSING	67
Long-life, loose-fit, low energy buildings	67
Improving environmental performance	68
DEFINING SUCCESS: KEY PRINCIPLES OF URBAN DESIGN	70
IMPROVING THE DESIGN PROCESS: THE SPATIAL MASTERPLAN	73
PROCURING EXCELLENCE IN URBAN DESIGN	75
Development briefs	75
Design competitions	77
DEVELOPING A NATIONAL URBAN DESIGN FRAMEWORK	80
The role of government	80
Promoting public involvement	81
IN SUMMARY	83
3 MAKING THE CONNECTIONS	87
CREATING SUSTAINABLE MOVEMENT PATTERNS	88
The planning system: setting the tone	88
Getting the connections right	90
Streets as places	91
CREATING A NEW SET OF TRAVEL CHOICES	95
Prioritising walking and cycling	95
Improving public transport	97
Reducing car use	101
PARKING	104
Planning residential parking provision	104
Planning non-residential parking provision	105
Car parking charges	106
IN SUMMARY	107
PART TWO: MAKING TOWNS AND CITIES WORK	113
4 MANAGING THE URBAN ENVIRONMENT	113
THE STATE OF OUR URBAN ENVIRONMENT	114
URBAN MANAGEMENT: ESTABLISHING THE PROBLEM AND PROPOSING SOLUTIONS	116
Management and maintenance services: a case of under-investment	116

Securing strategic responsibility	117
The need for clear and transparent management responsibility	117
Town centres: a management priority	120
Council estates and urban management	122
Community-based neighbourhood management	122
Developing upstream solutions	125
Crime prevention and community safety	126
The need to know whether management is making a difference	128
IN SUMMARY	129
5 DELIVERING URBAN REGENERATION	133
LEARNING THE LESSONS OF THE PAST	134
DEVELOPING A COHERENT URBAN REGENERATION POLICY	138
Integrating national and regional policy objectives	138
Enhancing the strategic role of local government	139
CONCENTRATING OUR REGENERATION EFFORTS	140
The case for a targeted approach	140
The case for designating Urban Priority Areas	142
How would the designations work?	143
The special regeneration needs of council housing areas	144
Prioritising aftercare	146
WORKING IN PARTNERSHIP	147
Urban Regeneration Companies	147
Housing Regeneration Companies	152
Area regeneration committees	153
IN SUMMARY	153
6 INVESTING IN SKILLS AND INNOVATION	157
URBAN DEVELOPMENT SKILLS: WHERE DO THE GAPS LIE?	158
Core skills and employment needs	158
Strengthening the enabling role of government	159
The changing needs of the development industry	159
Building capacity to enable community participation	160
EXISTING SKILLS PROVISION	161
Academic and professional qualifications	161
Continuing professional development	162
CREATING A SKILLS IMPROVEMENT STRATEGY	164
The role of education and professional institutions	164

Regional Resource Centres for Urban Development	164
The international dimension	167
IN SUMMARY	168
PART THREE: MAKING THE MOST OF OUR URBAN ASSETS
7 TAKING STOCK OF THE HOUSING REQUIREMENT	173
THE NATIONAL TARGET FOR HOUSING ON RECYCLED LAND	174
Refining the target	174
Compiling the evidence	175
THE SUPPLY OF PREVIOUSLY DEVELOPED LAND AND EMPTY BUILDINGS	179
Existing supply of land and buildings	180
Projected supply of land and buildings	183
DELIVERING LAND AND BUILDINGS FOR NEW HOUSING	184
Housebuilding patterns	184
Urban greenfields	186
Existing greenfield allocations	186
Density of new residential development	187
SUMMARISING THE RESULTS	187
8 PLANNING FOR CHANGE	191
PLANNING FOR AN URBAN RENAISSANCE	192
National planning guidance	192
Regional planning guidance	194
STREAMLINING THE PLANNING SYSTEM	195
Moving to more strategic development plans	195
Streamlining planning decisions	197
Implementation teams	199
Reducing planning regulation	199
MAKING CHANGE HAPPEN	199
Area implementation planning	199
Tackling outdated zoning	202
Facilitating mixed uses	202
Making better use of planning obligations and planning gain	204
Securing mixed income housing	204
Getting support from above	206
IN SUMMARY	206

9 MANAGING THE LAND SUPPLY 211

PLANNING AHEAD	212
The work of the Regional Planning Bodies	212
Plan, monitor and manage: what should it mean in practice?	213
Urban capacity studies	213
The sequential approach and the phasing of land release	214
Countering the over-release of greenfield land	217
The Green Belt and linking development	218
Releasing under-used public land assets	219
APPLYING ECONOMIC INSTRUMENTS	221
Greenfield tax	221
Environmental impact fees	221
LAND ASSEMBLY: STRENGTHENING THE OPTIONS	223
Reflecting the costs of holding vacant land and buildings	224
Facilitating private development	226
Easing negotiated public acquisitions	227
Increasing financial resources	228
COMPULSORY PURCHASE: PROBLEMS AND SOLUTIONS	228
Bureaucracy	228
Powers	229
Skills	231
Compensation	231
IN SUMMARY	232

10 CLEANING UP THE LAND 237

UNDERSTANDING THE PROBLEM	238
A barrier to development	238
Learning from abroad	238
MANAGING THE RISK	240
Establishing the priorities	240
Regulating environmental protection in respect of contaminated sites	240
Managing development risk: the case for a new national framework	242
Covering the development risk	243
PROMOTING THE POSSIBILITIES	244
Education	244
Research	244
Prevention	245
IN SUMMARY	245

11 RECYCLING THE BUILDINGS	249
TAKING THE STRATEGIC OPPORTUNITIES	250
Empty property strategies	250
Unpopular areas and low housing demand	250
Historic buildings and neighbourhoods	251
The upper rooms	253
ADDRESSING THE CONSTRAINTS	255
Value Added Tax	255
Local taxation	255
THE RENAISSANCE FUND	256
IN SUMMARY	257
 PART FOUR: MAKING THE INVESTMENT
12 ATTRACTING PRIVATE INVESTMENT	263
URBAN PROPERTY INVESTMENT	264
Understanding existing patterns	264
Prospects for change	265
Criteria for intervention	266
NEW FUNDING STRUCTURES	266
Joint public-private long term investment funds	266
Regional companies and debenture issues	268
Private finance applications to deliver mixed development projects	268
The private rented housing sector: introducing the REIT-petite	269
FISCAL MEASURES	272
Stimulating supply	273
Stimulating demand	274
Testing the measures: the potential contribution	276
IN SUMMARY	276
13 THE ROLE OF PUBLIC INVESTMENT	279
MAKING PUBLIC EXPENDITURE AND ASSETS WORK HARDER	280
LOCAL GOVERNMENT FINANCE	282
Revenue expenditure	282
Capital funding	284
Raising additional local revenue	285

THE GOVERNMENT'S REGENERATION PROGRAMMES	286
The big numbers	286
Programme management	287
The European dimension	291
The impact of the National Lottery	292
PUBLIC HOUSING INVESTMENT	293
A legacy of under-investment	293
Future investment in social housing	293
Private sector renewal	295
Overcoming social segregation	296
IN SUMMARY	297

PART FIVE: SUSTAINING THE RENAISSANCE

14 SUSTAINING THE RENAISSANCE	303
RECYCLED LAND: THE URBAN OPPORTUNITY	304
A NEW POLITICAL FRAMEWORK	307
The Urban White Paper	307
The Urban Policy Board	307
Regional and local apparatus	307
New roles and responsibilities	308
The 'State of the Towns and Cities' Report	308
Parliamentary accountability	309
COMMUNICATING SUCCESS	309
LOOKING FORWARD	310

POSTSCRIPT

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

INDEX