

Contents

Acknowledgements	ii
Acronyms	iii
Summary/Résumé/Resumen	v
Summary	v
Résumé	vii
Resumen	ix
Introduction	1
I. Transnational Women's Health Coalitions: Origins and Conceptual Frameworks	1
The ethical framework of reproductive and sexual rights	4
Indivisibility of human rights and basic needs	9
II. Assessing the UN Conferences: Gains and "Fault Lines"	13
Reassessing Cairo and Beijing	15
Learning from the fault lines: Women in the Social Summit and ICPD+5	24
III. Implementing International Norms at the National Level: The Many Faces of Privatization	31
The experience of NGOs as country-level implementers, monitors and "partners"	34
The many faces of privatization	42
IV. NGOs, the State and Global Governance: What Can We Learn from the Campaigns for Reproductive and Sexual Rights?	46
Bibliography	50
Boxes
1. The story of Futhi	12
2. Health sector reform	32
Table
1. A feminist report card on the Cairo Programme of Action	20