

Contents

| | |
|---|-----|
| Preface..... | vii |
| 1. What Brought Us Together and What We Found..... | 1 |
| 2. Despite Recent Improvements in Data, We Still Cannot Answer Key Questions about Migration and Development..... | 3 |
| 2.1 A century of ignored recommendations | 3 |
| 2.2 Selected recent advances toward better data | 5 |
| 2.2.1 Tabulations of empirical data..... | 6 |
| 2.2.2 Tabulations based on estimates..... | 7 |
| 2.2.3 Anonymous data on individuals, or microdata..... | 7 |
| 2.2.4 International standards and guidelines..... | 8 |
| 2.3 Major policy questions that existing data cannot answer | 9 |
| 3. Five Steps to Improve Migration Data in the Long Term, with Existing Institutions and at Low Cost..... | 11 |
| Recommendation 1: Ask basic census questions, and make the tabulated answers publicly available | 11 |
| Recommendation 2: Compile and release existing administrative data | 14 |
| Recommendation 3: Centralize Labor Force Surveys | 15 |
| Recommendation 4: Provide access to microdata, not just tabulations | 16 |
| Recommendation 5: Include migration modules on more existing household surveys | 18 |
| 4. In the Longer Term: Building Institutional Capacity to Collect and Disseminate Migration Data in Developing Countries..... | 22 |
| References..... | 24 |

สำหรับใช้เฉพาะทางวิชาการเท่านั้น
For educational use and reference only