

Foreword	i
List of Tables	vi
List of Figures	viii
List of Text Boxes	viii
Executive Summary	ix
Acronyms and Abbreviations	xv
Chapter 1 – Research Approach	1
1.1 Background	1
1.2 Objectives of the research	1
1.3 Methodology	2
1.3.1 Areas of study	3
1.3.2 Population and sample size	4
1.3.3 Data collection process	6
1.3.4 The period of data collection	7
1.3.5 Limitations of the study	7
1.4 Definition of key terms	7
Chapter 2 – Situation Analysis of Thailand’s Fishing Sector	10
2.1 Modernization of the fishing sector	10
2.2 Geography, typology, and scale of the fishing sector	11
2.2.1 Geography of Thailand’s fisheries	11
2.2.2 Scale and typology of fishing sector enterprises	13
2.3 Economic importance of the fishing sector	14
2.4 Legal framework for fisheries management and the protection of workers	16
2.4.1 Fisheries management legislation	16
2.4.2 Labour protection legislation	17
2.4.3 International standards on work in fishing	18
2.5 Institutional framework for fisheries management and the protection of workers	19
2.5.1 Government agencies responsible for regulation of the Thai fishing sector and the protection of fishers’ rights	19
2.5.2 Industry associations	24
2.5.3 Non-government organizations	25
2.6 Transition from a Thai to a migrant labour force in the fishing sector	25
2.6.1 Entry and regulation of migrant workers	25
2.6.2 The changing face of the fishing sector	26
2.7 Forced labour and human trafficking within the fishing sector	29
2.7.1 Prevalence of forced labour and human trafficking in the fishing sector	29
2.7.2 Patterns of forced labour and human trafficking in the fishing sector	30
2.7.3 Law enforcement response to forced labour and human trafficking in the fishing sector	31

2.7.4	International pressure to address forced labour and human trafficking in the fishing sector	33
Chapter 3 – Profile of the Fishers in the Survey		35
3.1	Nationality of fishers in sample provinces	35
3.2	Legal status of migrant fishers	36
3.2.1	Reasons for not entering the regularization process	37
3.3	Length of time at sea	38
3.4	Age of respondents	38
3.4.1	Children and young workers	39
3.5	Educational background and Thai language proficiency	39
3.6	Roles on board and work experience	40
3.7	Types of fishing vessels and crew size	42
3.8	Accommodation	44
Chapter 4 – The Recruitment Process		45
4.1	Conditions attracting workers to the fishing sector	45
4.2	The various recruitment methods	46
4.3	Voluntary versus involuntary entry into the Thai fishing sector	46
4.4	The recruitment process	48
4.5	Costs of recruitment	49
Chapter 5 – Employment Practices and Working Conditions		51
5.1	Signing of a labour agreement	51
5.2	Working hours and rest periods	51
5.2.1	Working hours	51
5.2.2	Periods of rest	52
5.2.3	Sufficiency of rest while at sea	53
5.3	Pay, savings and remittances	53
5.3.1	Amount of pay	53
5.3.2	Conditions of payment	54
5.3.3	Frequency of wage payment	54
5.3.4	Deductions from pay and amount deducted	55
5.3.5	Savings	56
5.3.6	Remittances sent home	56
5.4	Safety, health and welfare	57
5.4.1	Social protection	57
5.4.2	Occupational safety and health on board	57
5.4.3	First aid	59
5.4.4	Food and drinking water	60
5.5	Violence on board and the sale and transfer of fishers	60
5.5.1	Threatened with violence	60
5.5.2	Severely beaten on board	60
5.5.3	Sold or transferred	61
5.5.4	Attempts to abandon the fishing boat	61

5.6	The reality of work aboard fishing vessels compared to information given to fishers prior to recruitment	63
5.7	Future plans	65
Chapter 6 – Deceptive and Coercive Labour Practices		66
6.1	Gauging the extent of forced labour	67
6.2	Additional analysis of forced labour in the sample	69
6.3	Forced labour and entry into the fishing sector	70
6.4	Forced labour and nationality	71
6.5	Forced labour and type of fishing	71
6.6	Forced labour and working hours	72
6.7	Forced labour and wages, savings and remittances	73
6.8	Forced labour and complaints	74
6.9	Conclusions on forced labour in the sample	75
Chapter 7 – Complaint Mechanisms and Protection for Fishers		77
7.1	Access to complaints channels	77
7.2	Recipients of complaints	77
7.3	Reasons for not filing a complaint	78
7.4	Methods of resolving problems in the workplace	79
7.5	Interest in becoming a member of a labour union and assistance received	80
7.6	Protection according to the perception of fishers	81
7.7	Challenges in extending protection to fishers	81
7.7.1	Coordination and cooperation among agencies	81
7.7.2	Capacity and resources in provincial offices	82
7.7.3	Irregular status of migrant fishers	82
7.8	Recent efforts to improve conditions in the commercial fishing sector	82
Chapter 8 – Conclusions and Recommendations		85
8.1	Conclusions	85
8.1.1	Migration policy and recruitment practices	85
8.1.2	Employment practices and working conditions	86
8.1.3	Deceptive and coercive labour practices	87
8.1.4	Labour protection mechanisms	87
8.2	Recommendations	88
8.2.1	Recommendations for the Thai Government	88
8.2.2	Recommendations for cooperation between the Thai Government and social partners	89
8.2.3	Recommendations for cooperation between the Thai Government and the governments of countries of origin and countries in which Thai vessels are fishing	90
8.2.4	Recommendations for buyers of Thai seafood products	90
References		91
Annex 1 – Questionnaire		94
Annex 2 – Key Findings of a Survey members of the National Fisheries Association of Thailand		102