
Contents

Figures	vii
Major treaties	viii
Cases	x
Foreword	xii
Acknowledgements	xiv
Abbreviations	xv
Part I: Introduction and overview	1
1 Introduction and overview	3
Part II: Historical overview of the international process to improve coordination and create synergies between intergovernmental sustainable development institutions	13
2 From Stockholm to Johannesburg via Malmö: A historical overview of international coordination of environment- sustainable development institutions	15

Part III: The legal milieu of interlinkages under international law	45
3 Legal mechanisms and coordination systems for promoting and managing interlinkages between multilateral environmental agreements	47
Part IV: Theoretical foundations and basis for an analytical framework	95
4 Towards an improved understanding of effectiveness of international treaties	97
5 Interlinkages and legal effectiveness: Laying the foundations of an analytical framework	130
Part V: Case study one: Understanding interlinkages as a factor of effectiveness within international environmental law	157
6 The interlinkages of plant genetic resources: The Convention on Biological Diversity and FAO International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture	159
Part VI: Case study two: Understanding interlinkages as a factor of effectiveness of sustainable development law	197
7 The interlinkages of plant genetic resources: The CBD and ITPGREFA and their relationship with the TRIPS Agreement ...	199
Part VII: Conclusions	235
8 Conclusions for public international law and treaty management	237
Appendix	250
Selected bibliography	293
Index	298