

Contents

Acknowledgements	viii
List of acronyms	x
Contributors	xiv
Introduction	1
1 Post-conflict societies and the military: Challenges and problems of security sector reform	1
Albrecht Schnabel and Hans-Georg Ehrhart
Part I: The challenges of post-conflict peacebuilding and security sector reform	17
2 Security sector reform and donor policies	19
Dylan Hendrickson and Andrzej Karkoszka
3 African armed forces and the challenges of security sector transformation	45
Rocky Williams
4 Military forces' training for post-conflict peacebuilding operations	74
Fernando Isturiz

Part II: Experiences from Europe: Macedonia, Bosnia, Russia, Georgia, and Northern Ireland	91
5 Ethnic-military relations in Macedonia	93
Biljana Vankovska
6 Democratization in Bosnia: A more effective role for SFOR	114
Allison Ritscher
7 The use of Russia's security structures in the post-conflict environment	133
Ekaterina A. Stepanova
8 Civil-military relations in a newly independent transitional state: The Georgian case	156
David Darchiashvili
9 The politics of fear versus the politics of intimidation: Security sector reform in Northern Ireland	182
Stefan Wolff
Part III: Experiences from Latin America: El Salvador, Guatemala, Colombia, Chile, and Haiti	205
10 Civil-military relations in Latin America: The post-9/11 scenario and the civil society dimension	207
Andrés Serbin and Andrés Fontana
11 The military in post-conflict societies: Lessons from Central America and prospects for Colombia	225
Thomas C. Bruneau
12 Civil-military relations and national reconciliation in Chile in the aftermath of the Pinochet affair	243
Nibaldo H. Galleguillos
13 The role of the military in democratization and peacebuilding: The experiences of Haiti and Guatemala	258
Chetan Kumar
Part IV: Experiences from Asia: Cambodia, East Timor, and Afghanistan	281

14 Security sector reform in Cambodia	283
Sophie Richardson and Peter Sainsbury
15 International force and political reconstruction: Cambodia, East Timor, and Afghanistan	297
William Maley
Conclusion	313
16 Post-conflict societies and the military: Recommendations for the security sector reform	315
Hans-Georg Ehrhart and Albrecht Schnabel
Index	323

For educational use and reference only