
CONTENTS

Acknowledgements.....	ix
Foreword: Reflections on the Global Doing Democracy Research Project.....	xi
Daniel Schugurensky
1 Introducing the Global Doing Democracy Research Project: Seeking to Understand the Perspectives, Experiences and Perceptions of Teachers in Relation to Democracy in Education	1
David Zyngier and Paul R. Carr
2 Democracy, Critical Pedagogy and the Education of Educators.....	23
Paul Carr
3 Re-Discovering Democracy: Putting Action (Back) into Active Citizenship and Praxis (Back) into Practice	57
David Zyngier
4 Can We Teach Deep Democracy: And Can It Make a Difference?..	91
Carolyn M. Shields
5 Getting Beyond Flat-Out Bored: The Challenges and Possibilities of Creating a Democratic Space for Social Justice Education in Publicly Funded Schools	109
Michael O'Sullivan
6 Preservice Teachers' Conceptions of Democratic Essence: Interpretations of Democratic Principles, and Their Connections to Social Justice, Economic Class, and Spirituality/Religion in the United States.....	135
Thomas A. Lucey

viii ■ Contents

7	What Kind of Citizenship for What Kind of Democracy? Are We Spectators of Everyday Events or Protagonists in History?	159
	Adriana Murriello, Andrea Ledwith, and Cecilia Naddeo
8	Teacher Education and Democracy: Preparing Teachers in Metropolitan Buenos Aires	175
	María Delia Traverso
9	Education for Democracy in Peruvian Society.....	193
	Felix Reátegui and Susana Frisancho
10	Doing Democracy in Education: Perspectives of Malaysian Principals	207
	Sazali Yusoff
11	“Critical Multicultural Social Studies” for “Thick Democracy”: Theory and Practice.....	219
	Marc Pruyn
	About the Contributors.....	257

สำหรับเพื่อการศึกษาและการอ้างอิงเท่านั้น
For educational use and reference only