

Contents

Background and Acknowledgements

I

Preface

III

INTRODUCTION

PART ONE: THE HUMAN RIGHTS FRAMEWORK

I. THE HUMAN RIGHTS FRAMEWORK

Concepts and priorities

9

Priority of rights

9

Interdependence of rights

9

Duties

12

Duty-bearers

14

15

II. POVERTY, ATTRIBUTING RESPONSIBILITY

17

Poverty and human rights

17

Attaching responsibility for violations

19

National responsibility

21

III. HUMAN RIGHTS LAW, ESC RIGHTS AND TRANSNATIONAL OBLIGATIONS

23

Political issues and context

23

Relevance of the human rights framework

25

The United Nations Charter

26

International Covenant on Economic, Social and 27

Cultural (ESC) Rights

27

Convention on the Rights of the Child

29

Customary international law

30

UN Commission on Human Rights

32

Conclusions on international law

33

IV. ASSESSING TRANSNATIONAL OBLIGATIONS: A PRELIMINARY FRAMEWORK

35

When outside actors are implicated

35

When outside actors have no obvious responsibility

38

Developing a framework for transnational obligations

39

In summary

41

PART TWO: THE PRINCIPLE OF STATE SOVEREIGNTY

V. STATE SOVEREIGNTY

The changing norm of sovereignty

45

Relations between states

46

Internal capacity and performance

47

VI. RECONCEIVING SOVEREIGNTY

Alternative models

51

Responsibility to protect

53

Beyond the ICISS report

54

PART THREE: THE PLACE OF VALUES

VII. VALUES

Religious Values

63

63

VIII. SECULAR ETHICS

Communitarianism

67

Utilitarianism

71

Institutional cosmopolitanism

73

Towards institutional change

74

IX. SELF-INTEREST AND NATIONAL INTEREST

77

Global public goods

79

Forms of action and effect

80

Self-interest, common interest and sacrifice

82

X. CONCLUSION

85

CITED WORKS AND SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY

89